Environmental Sciences and Engineering Journal is a leading international publication in the field of environmental science and engineering. A total of five chapters have been selected for publication, and all are edited by professors from top universities. The topics of these chapters cover important aspects of Visualizing Environmental Science such as Environmental Trends, Modeling and Simulation, Health and Physical Performance, Education and Learning, and Ecology and Ecosystems. As an online interactive book, the book has been optimized to run in both a web browser and on a mobile device. The book covers important content that is both timely and applicable in the undergraduate and graduate level. Topics covered in the book include:"Making sense of environmental change and human health and wellbeing in an unpredictable world."

Environmental Sciences and Engineering Journal is a great opportunity for the community of environmental science and engineering to discuss the topics covered in the book. Publisher's Note Springer Nature remains neutral with regard to jurisdictional claims in published maps and institutional affiliations. /* * Copyright (c) 2013, 2018, Oracle and/or its affiliates.
